Ride Camp Location Change for Grand Island North ride

Due to post-permit problems with the Forest Service over equestrian use of the original campsite, the ride camp for Grand Island North is moving to a private property venue a few miles away. The new location is a Boy Scout camp which is situated on a nice lake, has flush toilets and showers and management that actually wants us there, wants to develop more of their considerable acreage for horse camping. There is currently no one area large enough for us, however, so we'll be dispersed into smaller areas; take as much room as you need but please camp as close to each other as possible. We hope to have someone assisting with parking, but if there is a "full" sign at the first of two entrances to the camp, proceed to the second; pink-tipped stakes will identify where rigs may park (they're not meant to delineate particular sites, just areas where it's OK to park), and you should not proceed past turnaround signs without advance scouting.

Camping fees are $8 per rig per night and note that the Boy Scouts do not permit either alcohol or tobacco on their premises.

Our sympathies go out to Kathy Macki for the loss of her horse AAA Nykolite earlier this year.

Recipe for cooking a lot of ears of corn at one time.

I found this article on Pinterest and thought it might be of use for those ride managers who do big pot lucks.

Am I the only person who hasn't heard of "cooler corn"? As an obsessive food nerd, you'd expect that I would have at least heard of it, but over the weekend I was blind-sided by the simple genius of this method for cooking loads of corn on the cob perfectly. I was introduced to it while visiting my family in Maine. Short story: We like corn on the cob. And with eight adults at the table, that means a couple of dozen ears. We would have used the lobster pot to cook them all, but the lobster pot was busy steaming lobster. Then my sister, a capable Maine cook with years of camping experience, says "let's do cooler corn!" Before I can ask "what the hell is cooler corn?" a Coleman cooler appears from the garage, is wiped clean, then filled with the shucked ears. Next, two kettles-full of boiling water are poured over the corn and the top closed. Then nothing. When we sat down to dinner 30 minutes later and opened it, the corn was perfectly cooked. My mind was blown. And I'm told that the corn will remain at the perfect level of doneness for a couple of hours. Turns out, Cooler Corn is pretty well known among the outdoorsy set but for those of us who avoid tents as much as possible, it's perfect for large barbecues and less of a mess than grilling. In fact, I may even buy another cooler just so I'm ready for next summer.

Brighton Fall Ride returns

The Brighton Fall ride will be held on the 26th-27th -28th of October. Bev London will be managing the ride and it will be competitive only as it has in the past. Contact Bev at eg_doclondon@yahoo.com for more details.

Get Well wishes go out to Carl Dosman and Rose Clark. We hope to see them back at the rides soon

Feel stiff and stressed? I will have my massage chair at the rides and will be doing chair massage to help soothe those sore muscles.

$10.00 per session or 3 for $25.00 Will trade chair massage for one bale of good hay.
